Written by Dr. Khaled Abdelazim Abbas
Monday, 22 August 2011 04:36 - Last Updated Monday, 13 January 2014 18:50

Dr. Khaled Abdelazim Abbas, an international consultant, academic, expert and trainer in several fields including transport planning, traffic engineering, public transport, logistics management and traffic safety currently holding the position as Dean of Egypt National Institute of Transport as well as being a board member of several transport companies and organisations including Egypt National Authority for Tunnels, Holding Company for Roads Bridges and Land Transport. Dr Khaled Abbas experience spans across several countries including UK, Egypt, USA, Saudi Arabia, Australia, UAE as well as several other countries in the Middleeast and Africa. Dr Khaled Abbas is the chairman of Transport Planning & Traffic Engineering House known as (TPTEH). This website disseminates some of the research, consultancy, training and learning activities of TPTEH. We will be posting discussions on several transport, traffic and logistics related issues.